ORION

Volume 19

The Class Of 1985 Presents Up Up And Away . .

In May of 1984 the Orion staff first met to discuss the yearbook theme. Members wanted something unique which would express their changing lifestyles. After many hours of discussion the perfect idea evolved. They selected a theme to illustrate the growth of the class and its desire to achieve as the seniors allow their dreams to carry them UP, UP AND AWAY!!

Captain Orion

A Mythical Character Appears At Daniel Boone

Although no one really knows when he first arrived, this D.B. superstar will never be forgotten. Captain Orion symbolizes that mystical quality which enables students to cope with problems during high school years. From the smallest 7th grader to the mightiest senior, The Blue Marvel generously helps everyone. He solves homework problems, directs the lost and confused, and always appears when needed. Captain Orion, thank you!

Captain O. helps seventh grader Joe McNally through the F-Section maze.

The good Captain rescues Mr. Ulrich's eighth grade class from a future Robert W. Bunsen.

Ninth Graders Josh Bell, Heather Pegler, and Allison McKinney depend on Captain Orion to decipher this foreign tongue.

The Blue Marvel helps Mike Weaver and Todd DePrefontaine solve the Pythagorean Theorem.

A Friendly Gathering
At Hopewell Village

Hopewell Village ranks among one of our nation's beautiful Historic Sites. Rustic, wooden cottages and worn, dirt paths remind visitors of the progress our nation has achieved in the past century. Admiring the pride and determination displayed by county ancestors, the 1985 Senior Class of Daniel Boone chose this local landmark to meet with friends for group pictures.

Attention Faculty:

Welcome to Daniel Boone! Thank you for your interest in education. This year you will need to: . . . be entirely devoted to your students . . . check lavatories for smokers . . . impart critical knowledge . . . demand hall passes instantly . . . send students outside for gym in December . . . inspire creativity . . . take daily attendance . . . complete college recommendations . . . clean spitballs off the blackboard . . . schedule three tests in one day . . . offer moral support . . . confiscate candy bars, or other "goodies" to eat later . . . challenge each student . . . never be ill . . . and always smile.

Thank you,

Have a successful year!

In Memoriam

The class of 1985 acknowledges the passing of Mr. Tom Warden-a friend to many and sadly missed by all.

The custodians here at Daniel Boone are responsible for every aspect of running the school. They take care of the heating, the cleaning, the grass cutting; they do every chore imaginable to keep everything going smoothly. The students thank these people for their efforts in making Daniel Boone a better place to be!

1 cup of happiness
½ cup of liveliness
2 cups of skill
4 tbsp. of perserverance
¼ tsp. of sunshine
Mix altogether and simmer for 180 days. And what do you get? A great D. B. Cafeteria Worker.

Anthony and Chris share a special moment at the Prom.

Eric Roth paints a true picture of France.

A dedicated member of the newspaper staff proofreads his article.

Lisa Valletta works diligently to meet a deadline.

Couples cuddle close at the Homecoming Dance.

None of the students involved in activities can ever forget the time spent on special projects for their school. The feeling of pride a member experiences when a project has gone well rewards his efforts thousandfold. Private jokes, secret pranks, certain songs, and special friendships remain as unforgettable as the events themselves. Together the members create a way of doing things that will be remembered long after they separate.

Players Concentrate On That Crucial Move

Led by Seth Riegel and advisor Mr. Levan, the chess club employed offensive tactics during their various games. The chess club went up against teams from other schools in many intense and grueling matches. Club members develop skill and patience which will later aid their strategy in the game plan of life.

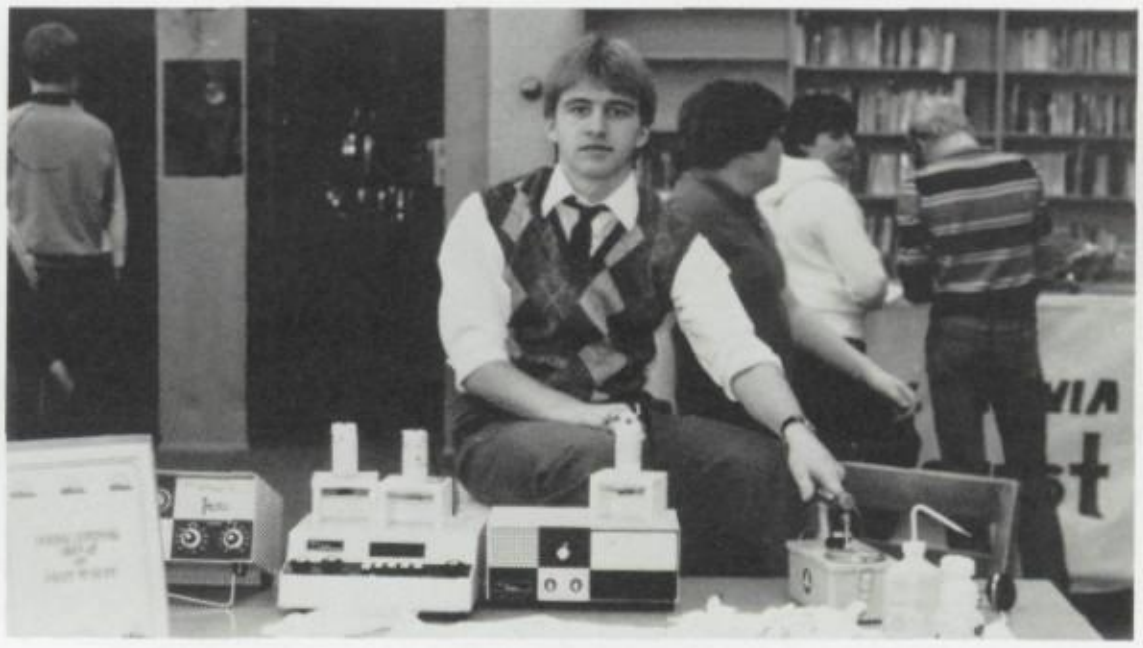
Chemical Reaction Changes Library Into A Laboratory



Proud as a peacock, Jerry Wendel displays his Geiger Mueller tube.

Mr. Scalese ponders another one of Mrs. Lenhart's brainstorms.

Casey, Donelle, and Lisa anxiously await the mysterious print-outs.

For weeks, great minds and lots of hard work combined and suddenly, in the D.B.H.S. library, an exciting reaction took place. The product: terrific exhibits by students and teachers! This explosion of learning produced bacteria growth, electrolytes, radioactivity, and even the effect of rock music on plants. As if by magnetic force, students gravitated towards the makeshift laboratory. Each time the library door opened, a bit of "dangerous" knowledge escaped into the atmosphere. The good news: another science fair is planned for next year.

Language Students Blend Cultures

What happens when French, German, and Spanish students get together? The result is an explosion of fun, food and learning! Each respective club explores new areas of culture individually, but plans exciting experiences to hold the framework together. The German Club celebrates Oktoberfest, French Club has a Christmas party, and Spanish Club raises funds for their upcoming trip. Each club dines at a European-style restaurant or at the clubs' major cooperative project, the International Dinner. Students have fun sampling cultures and hardly realize the valuable things they learn.

Angelo Petrillo explains the proper dining procedures.

Hoping to satisfy their hunger, students beg for more.

Once each year, language students get a taste of the unique European flavor their well-traveled friends and teachers talk about. Entering the cafeteria on the night of this event takes a person across the Atlantic into the exciting other world of Europe. Candlelight illuminates unique decorations, traditional costumes, smiling faces, and a smorgasbord of student-prepared food. French, German, and Spanish advanced level students provide a rare combination of culture normally found only in a continental café.

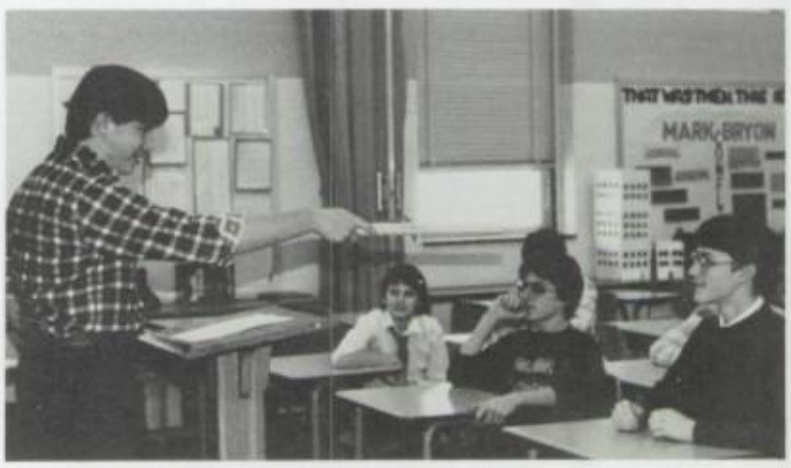
Each year the United Nations Club attends many conferences which simulate formal conferences held by the United Nations in New York. The club competed at Governor Mifflin and Muhlenburg against schools from the area this year. Advisors Mrs. Bigelow and Mr. Remley considered the activities of the club to be an excellent learning experience.



Bill Eschbach heads a class discussion on an urgent issue.

Daniel Boone Exchanges Foreign Friendships

Susanne van den Heuvel proudly takes us on a short tour of her homeland.

Kyoko Hatsukawa displays her traditional Japanese garb.

From the Orient comes Kyoko Hatsukawa who spent this year at Daniel Boone as an exchange student through Youth for Understanding.

Kyoko's school in Japan differs greatly from our school. In addition to being an all-girls' school, her classmates include only those students in grades ten through twelve. Some of Kyoko's hobbies and interests include swimming, reading, playing the piano and oil painting. She also enjoys going to the movies and visiting all types of museums. Kyoko believes that the people at Daniel Boone show much school spirit. She regards her exchange student experience as an invaluable one.

Susanne and Kyoko show us that friendship spans the seven seas.

From the Netherlands comes Susanne van den Heuvel who spent this year at Daniel Boone as an exchange student through the Rotary Club.

Although Susanne comes from a country thousands of miles away, she possesses many of the same interests as students here in the United States. She enjoys tennis, baking and windsurfing, as well as cooking, traveling and going out with friends. She also shows great interest in the music field. Upon her return to the Netherlands, Susanne plans to continue her education in the health field. She is also considering another year of student exchange.

Susanne will never forget her year at Daniel Boone, and she wishes everyone the best of luck in the future.

Creative Hands At Work

This year the art room buzzed with activity due to the formation of the Art Service Club. Under the supervision of Miss Braun, club members used their artistic talents to come to the aid of those who needed their skills. Since its creation in October, the Art Service Club's colorful designs have brightened our school.

Journalists Print The Latest

Each year the newspaper staff reports the exciting events which occur during the school year. Under the supervision of Mr. Levan, the members of The Blazer work diligently to produce an informative chronicle. The students and faculty eagerly await this monthly publication of the latest gossip. The final supplement, containing the exclusive senior wills, highlights the year.

A trusty library assistant can be found creeping behind the shelves of books or stamping out reading material on any given day. Diane Hart, speaking on behalf of the majority of library assistants, says that the best thing about being a library assistant is having the chance to help other students use the library. Thanks to the help of library assistants, every bookworm can sign out a good book and enjoy.

As the curtain closed on another year, the Stage Crew took a final bow. This group of students worked diligently to provide a colorful background for all Daniel Boone productions. Their duties included shedding light on school assemblies and projecting sound throughout the auditorium. They were the silent supporters of those in the limelight.

The Daniel Boone Youth Education Association is a service organization which helps people throughout the school and the community. This year DBYEA sponsored a "toys for tots" dance to collect toys for needy children. The club also sponsored a festive Christmas tea for teachers.

Throughout the year the club featured "Spotlight on a Teacher" and highlighted a teacher's activities. Prizes were awarded and homeroom doors were decorated. Under the advisorship of Miss Rhude, the club had much fun while still benefiting from the activities.

Participation in the Interact club involves more than simply adding another club to the student's list of activities. These members provide valuable assistance to the school and local community.

Club volunteers help the "little people" to enjoy a parade at Halloween. Members organize and sponsor the annual Jr. and Sr. High Volleyball Marathons which provide fun and competition while raising money for a scholarship. The club also serves the Christmas dinner for the senior citizens, a rewarding event which draws members together and enhances their fun and good times.

Students In Government:

The Force Behind The Student Body

Success breeds enthusiasm in Student Council. As student-sponsored events become more successful, the members gain confidence and try newer and larger things. Each time a student dresses for Spirit Week, anticipates a carnation for Valentine's Day, or prepares for fun at a student council dance, he can be certain that all will go right. As a member embarks on a new project, he knows that the support of the organization, it's officers, and other enthusiastic members is behind him.

Spirited Juniors battle for a coveted space on their windowsill.

Splashy decorations contribute to Senior spirit.

Underclassmen invade the Junior Territory.

Tami and Carole wonder what this day was really all about.

Spirited students get a charge out of changing the atmosphere of Daniel Boone during Spirit Week. On Blue and White Day, one can't tell if the halls of D. B. will hold up under the invasion of the little blue and white people, while the corridors see action as playing fields on Sports Day. Amazing powers of memory and insight materialize on Blazer's Past and Present Day, and everyone gets to strut his stuff on Dress-up Day. Fierce but friendly competition ends the week with a bang as streamers and other decorations abound to blanket the halls in class colors.

Varsity Club Takes Charge

The Daniel Boone Varsity Club consists of those students who have earned a varsity letter. In conjunction with the sports boosters, the club sponsored the 1984 Homecoming celebration. Members helped with various activities during the festivities, including a dance, which capped the fun-filled weekend.

Serving as this year's officers were John Okuniewski (President), Colleen Rapposelli (Vice President), and Julie Groth (Treasurer).

NHS Honors Inductees

Selection to the National Honor Society relieves all anticipation and gives the inductee that special rewarding feeling of pride. This prestigious organization accepts juniors and seniors who have shown the exceptional qualities of leadership, trust, service, loyalty, and scholastic achievement.

The NHS invites members of the school board and faculty, administrators, parents of the inductees, senior members and officers to attend the annual induction dinner. A candlelight ceremony, held after the dinner, honors new society members.

When the Orion staff first met in the spring, they found a difficult task awaiting them. The old style had been discarded and methods of lay-out, write-up and candids had to be changed. Although first met with enthusiasm, this challenge soon seemed impossible. Senior staffers spend many hours hoping to produce an original, exciting yearbook. There were good times as well as bad. Orion members will never forget trips to Burger King, assembly practices, late night meetings, deadline anxieties, and the final excitement of reviewing proofs. Many thanks go to our advisor, Frau Buch, who never gave up on us and encouraged us to go beyond ourselves to accomplish what we though was the impossible.

Each year the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution asks the Senior Class to nominate representatives who most exemplify the characteristics of dependability, leadership, and loyalty. After reviewing the accomplishments and contributions of the nominees, the high school faculty selects the award winner. Acknowledging her outstanding involvement in school and 4-H Club activities, Michelle Harley was chosen as this year's representative.

Seniors Enjoy Special Appreciation

Through a mixture of tears and cheers, the seniors celebrated the end of their successful seasons. On these special days, athletes and band members were recognized during the last home game of the year. A breakfast and dress-up day, organized by the juniors, also honored the class of 1985. These future graduates enjoyed the attentions of friends and family on a day set aside just especially for them.

Michelle and other winners smile with relief and pride.

On October 6, 1984, I had the opportunity to participate in the Berks County Jr. Miss Pageant. I represented Daniel Boone along with 20 other contestants from Berks County schools.

The Jr. Miss program, held nationwide, judges contestants on personal interviews, scholastic ability, talent and physical fitness. Local pageants award scholarships and prizes in each category. Tension mounts as the audience and contestants anxiously await the judge's results. I'll never forget my excitement when they announced my name as the physical fitness award winner.

Other memories I have of Jr. Miss include: a swim party, softball game and many hours spent of rehearsing for my talent presentation, a dance routine to the song "Dancing in the Sheets."

I would like to thank my family and my friends for their understanding and support during the months I spent as Daniel Boone's Jr. Miss representative. Those special times and the many lasting friendships will be a part of me forever.

The 1984 DB Homecoming Court

This year's Daniel Boone Homecoming activities began on Friday, October 8, 1984. That evening a pep-rally and bonfire ignited the spirit of the students. The following morning athletes with hearty appetites enjoyed a pancake breakfast and Blazer fans watched the parade through Birdsboro. Sports enthusiasts viewed a Girl's Field hockey game, an alumni cross country meet, and the traditional homecoming football game. During half-time Leah Finkbiner was crowned 1984 Homecoming Queen. The Queen and her Court dined at the Yellow House Hotel following the game. That evening a Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the Varsity Club, completed the festivities. The queen and her court shared a truly special day with all who participated in the celebration of Homecoming 1984.

Outstanding Seniors Earn Recognition

Brett Cooper was honored on February 3, 1985, by receiving his Eagle Scout award. For his community service project, he built a podium for the Alice Focht cemetary, and also helped in cataloging.

Only a few people can make it to the top and Dave Smith clearly possesses that ability. His selection as a winner of the National Merit Scholarship Award, based on his PSAT scores, honored Daniel Boone.

Senior class officers:- The following students were selected to lead the Class of 1985: Brian Pusch-President, David Smith- Vice President, Lisa Rhoads- Secretary, and Bob Prince- Treasurer.

Joe Freese, a student in machinist tool making at Vo-Tech East, was chosen as student of the quarter by his shop instructor. Joe received his greatest honor when he finished first in the state in the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America Competition, which earned him an invitation to the National Championships in Kentucky.

Barry Lucas, a student of the Ganster Karate System, has numerous achievements under his "belt". He earned his brown belt and eagerly anticipates reaching the black belt level. Through his competition in tournaments, Barry gathered over twenty-five trophies and plans to add more to his collection.

Recently selected by the administrators of Daniel Boone, Bill Eschbach, Debbie Ledig, and Seth Riegel participated in a project entitled "Houses and Highways." They studied local roads, their legends, and roadstops. As a result, the Penn Quester History Team enjoyed a week at University of PA to further their studies.

Missy Happel makes roller skating more than just a hobby! She skates regularly with the Junior Skateway Team. Competing in the Junior Ladies' division of the state championship, Melissa honored her team by receiving 4 gold medals in relays.

Snow Court: L. Finkbiner, J. Groth, A. Barletta, A. Lamb, R. Worrall, A. Lichau, C. James, L. Valletta, G. Madrzykowski, L. Rhoades, J. Reppert, D. Reis, J. Okuniewski, A. Taglieri, B. Cooper, M. Harley, A. Petrillo, C. Rapposelli, Missing: K. Krick, B. Pusch.

Capturing the hearts of many, Michelle and Angelo were selected as the King and Queen during both winter dances.

Jack Frost Arrives!

While snowflakes fell outside, friends settled in for a long winter's night in the wonderland at the King Frost Dance. The King and Queen of Frost, with their court, warmed the snowy scene with their smiles, easily taking the chill out of the air. The weather outside may have been frightful, but the Senior Class created a dance that was delightful.

Cupid Strikes Again!

Hearts, flowers, and formal dress created a perfect atmosphere as cupid shot his magic arrows. At the Valentine's dance, couples celebrated their special feelings for each other in the company of good friends. The excitement mounted all evening. Students anticipated the announcement of their favorite couples who were then honored as King and Queen.

Juniors Treat Seniors To A Memorable Night

This is the story of John and Sue
On a special night when all dreams come true.
Each one prepared himself for hours;
Sue went to the hairdresser, John picked up her flowers.
But in the end, John looked so dear,
Sue whispered "I can't believe it!" in Mother's ear.
After numerous pictures, John opened the door.
With the prom ahead, neither could hope for more.
When they finally arrived at the magical place,
John stared questioningly into Sue's face.
"You look just fine, John," she reassured with a smile.
For one look like that John would walk a mile.
They both sat nervously in their chairs
As did many other attractive pairs.
The music began, John took Sue in his arms.
Each overwhelmed with the other's charms.

Jason moves with the stars.

Joanie attracts the attention of the guy across the room.

Deanna and Troy cross the bridge to happiness.

Jody and Sandy sit in the Garden of Earthly Delights.

Anthony, Dave, and Roy check out the dance floor.

Glittering lights and friendly faces sustained the magical prom spirit until daybreak. The Daniel Boone Opti-Mrs. sponsored the Post-Prom Party, a popular new tradition, in cooperation with a committee of juniors. Games, dancing, food, special picture-taking, and a romantic setting combined to produce an exceptionally memorable experience.

Seniors Creep From Shadows To Spotlight!

"Bill" has a hand on the blackout situation.

Future oscar winners look on as Miss Stotz demonstrates proper acting techniques.

The motherly "Mrs. Frazier" explains her problems to Mr. King, as "Buck" dreams of chasing chickens.

A ghost-like "Anna" warns prospective tenants of strange goings-on.

Was the Laughton Mansion really haunted or was the Frazier family just imagining the sounds they heard in the attic? Why did all of the new tenants leave the premises after only one night? Perhaps it was because of Anna, the peculiar housekeeper, or maybe they feared their neighbors Mr. King and his unusual hired hand Buck. What was Horace B. Wade actually drilling for? Was it really lemonade? All of these questions were answered on April 12th and 13th in the Daniel Boone High School auditorium when the Senior Class staged the hilarious mystery comedy Creeping Shadows. No one knew what to expect as the curtain opened and Jerry Wendel (Bill Frazier) stalked across the stage with his flashlight. But the delighted audience filled the auditorium with laughs and Creeping Shadows turned out to be a smashing hit. Who can forget the hysterical antics of Angelo Petrillo, playing Horace B. Wade (or was it Napoleon?) or the devious strategies of Jody Reppert and Brian Cassel who portrayed the shady next-door neighbors. Under the direction of Miss Lorie Stotz, the cast members worked together as a family to bring the three act comedy to perfection. Special thanks to Miss Stotz and Brett Cooper, the stage manager, for their patience and dedication. Without their constant guidance, the show could not have gone on.

The Senior Choir devoted countless hours polishing the numbers for its performances. During the first half of the year, in the absence of Mrs. Deborah Weinhold, Miss Sharon Hagenberger directed the choir. She led them through the Christmas season, which included performances at Wernersville State and Reading Hospitals, the annual Christmas Concert, the senior citizens Christmas Dinner, and the Christmas Assembly. The group developed into a show choir in the spring by adding choreography to various upbeat tunes. They staged their talents during the Spring Concert.

Junior Band Gives Various Performances

These young musicians jazz up the festivities during homecoming.

During the 1984-85 school year, the Junior Band worked harmoniously under the direction of Miss Linda Texter. This group of musically inclined seventh and eighth grade students practiced diligently for Senior High Band. They displayed the results of their hard work at the Halloween parades, Homecoming game, and Spring Concert.

The Junior Stage Band is an elite group of students from grades seven through nine. Under the direction of Miss Linda Texter, the jazz band competed against other stage bands at Wilson High School. The jazz band members gave their final performance of the year at the Spring Concert.

The twenty member jazz ensemble hosted the D.B. Sounds Spectacular held March 23, 1985, and made its final appearance at the Spring Concert, where all the seniors were honored.

Outstanding Musicians Spotlighted

This year, two members of the Daniel Boone Choir gained positions in the Berks County Chorus. Auditions determined which students would participate from the various schools in the county. The selected vocalists then rehearsed for a concert which displayed their talents. The concert took place on January 26, 1985, at Twin Valley High School. The 1985 District Chorus Festival, hosted by Wilson High School on January 17, 18, and 19, 1985, spotlighted Jeff Riegner, the sole Daniel Boone participant. During the time of the festival, Jeff enjoyed staying with a host family. The district vocalists rehearsed extensively throughout the festival and performed in concert. Miss Robin Frenz, a rioted vocal director, conducted the group.

Jeff Riegner- County Chorus, District Chorus. Beth Reitz-County Chorus.

Each year musicians from the Berks County Schools gather to audition for a seat in the Berks County Band. To acquire a position in the band, students must appear before judges who evaluate their skills in sight reading, solos, and scales. The students chosen for the ensemble then take part in rehearsels. Daniel Boone placed four musicians in the ensemble this year. The band performed in concert on January 26, 1985, at Twin Valley High School. Guest conductor Arthur Chodoroff, band director at Temple University, led the band through their performance. The District Band includes talented members from schools in seven neighboring counties. This year three students from Daniel Boone successfully auditioned for a place in this select group. The 1985 Festival took place at Kutztown High School on Januray 31, February 1, and 2. The band performed such numbers as "Nabucco" and "Freelance March" under the direction of guest conductor Dr. Daniel Dicicco of the Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Blazers Cap Winning Season With A Bomb!

Determined and Dedicated best describes the 1984 Blazer Football Team. Led by team captains Greg Beasley, Brett Cooper, and John Okuniewski, the gridders revenged a slow 1-4 beginning and closed the season with an astonishing 5-3-1 record, which proved to be the best in over ten years! Greg Beasley celebrated his first 100-yard game during the team's upset victory against Muhlenberg. The season ended with the most exciting play of the year. With no time remaining on the clock, Eric Mull hit Paul Richards with a 50-yard touchdown pass and tied the game. This game and this team will never be forgotten.

The Blazers Move With Pride

At the toss of a coin, the Junior Varsity Blazers elected to receive. With Paul Richards in control the determined gridders charged ahead for a victory. Down the field and through the end zone they marched, determined to raise that score. After each touchdown their confidence soared and their dream of victory became reality. Thanks to their coach, Mr. Jacobs, the Junior Varsity football team acquired invaluable skills needed to become an extremely successful team.

Linksters Swing Successfully

Golfers swing into victory!!! The 1984 golf team finished the season with a definite feeling of accomplishment. Nine seniors led the squad to a 7-3 record, 2nd place in the division, and their highest finish in three years. Ed Hamilton, Russ Hartline, and Rick Griffith, the leading golfers, participated in the County match. Hartline played well enough to earn a spot in the district tournament. This successful season even gave coach Kline reason to smile.

Awesome

Spartan Defeat Clinches Division Title!

This season the Blazer Hockey Team learned the true meaning of the word WORK! Suffering through the heat, humidity, and bugs, the team struggled to improve its skill while Mrs. Lykens invented "creative" new drills. All of this hard work paid off with a winning season of 16-4-1, and an invitation to the state tournament; a level never reached by any other D.B. team. The road to states began with an indescribable game against Wyomissing, which clinched the Division I Championship. From there, the team continued to finish third in District's. A heartbreaking loss to Moravian Academy ended the teams hopes of reaching state finals. Despite the disappointment of this loss, the team will never forget blue hair, sparkled faces, decorated buses, singing "Paradise By The Dashboard Light," and most of all, The Lawn Chair Boys! All of this spirit helped to keep enthusiasm high throughout their season. The selection of Leah Finkbiner and Trisha Johnson to the County All Star Team added to the team's triumph, and successfully capped the season for Mrs. Lykens in her first year as head coach.

Wrestling easily fulfills the role of being the most individual, emotional sport. This can be proven just by watching a wrestling cheerleader's face during a match. At one moment she nearly jumps out of her seat with excitement. The next, she slouches down, the grimace on her face mirrors a wrestler's agony. Not content to just sit back and watch, she constantly shouts words of encouragement that will help lead the team to their ultimate goal-the pin.

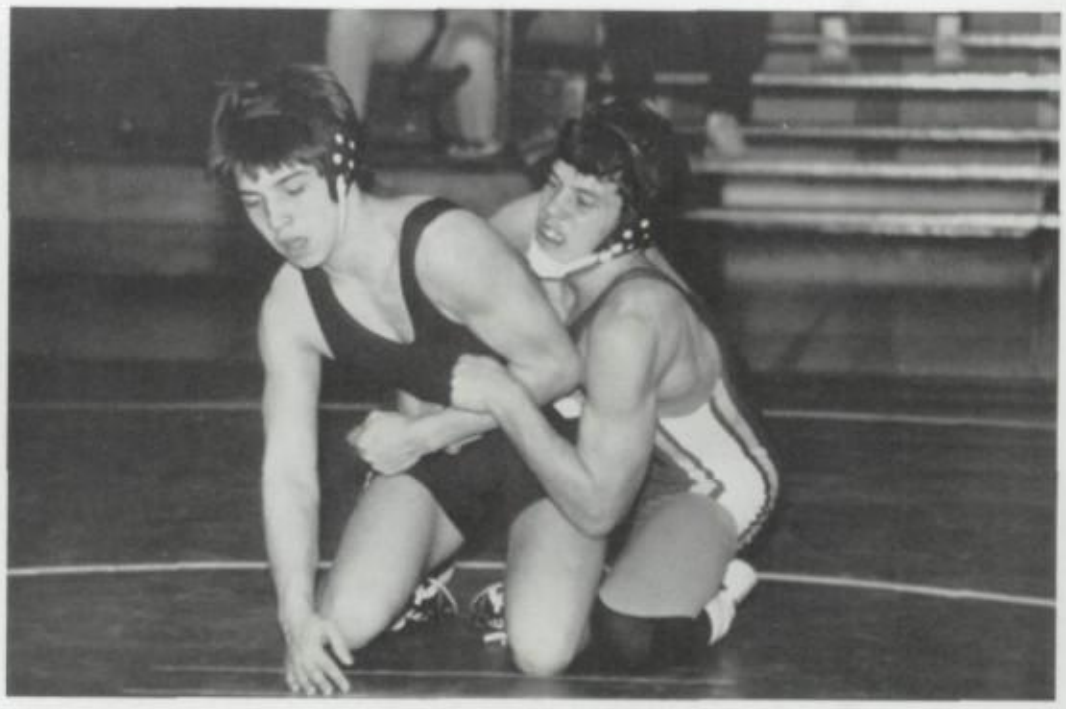
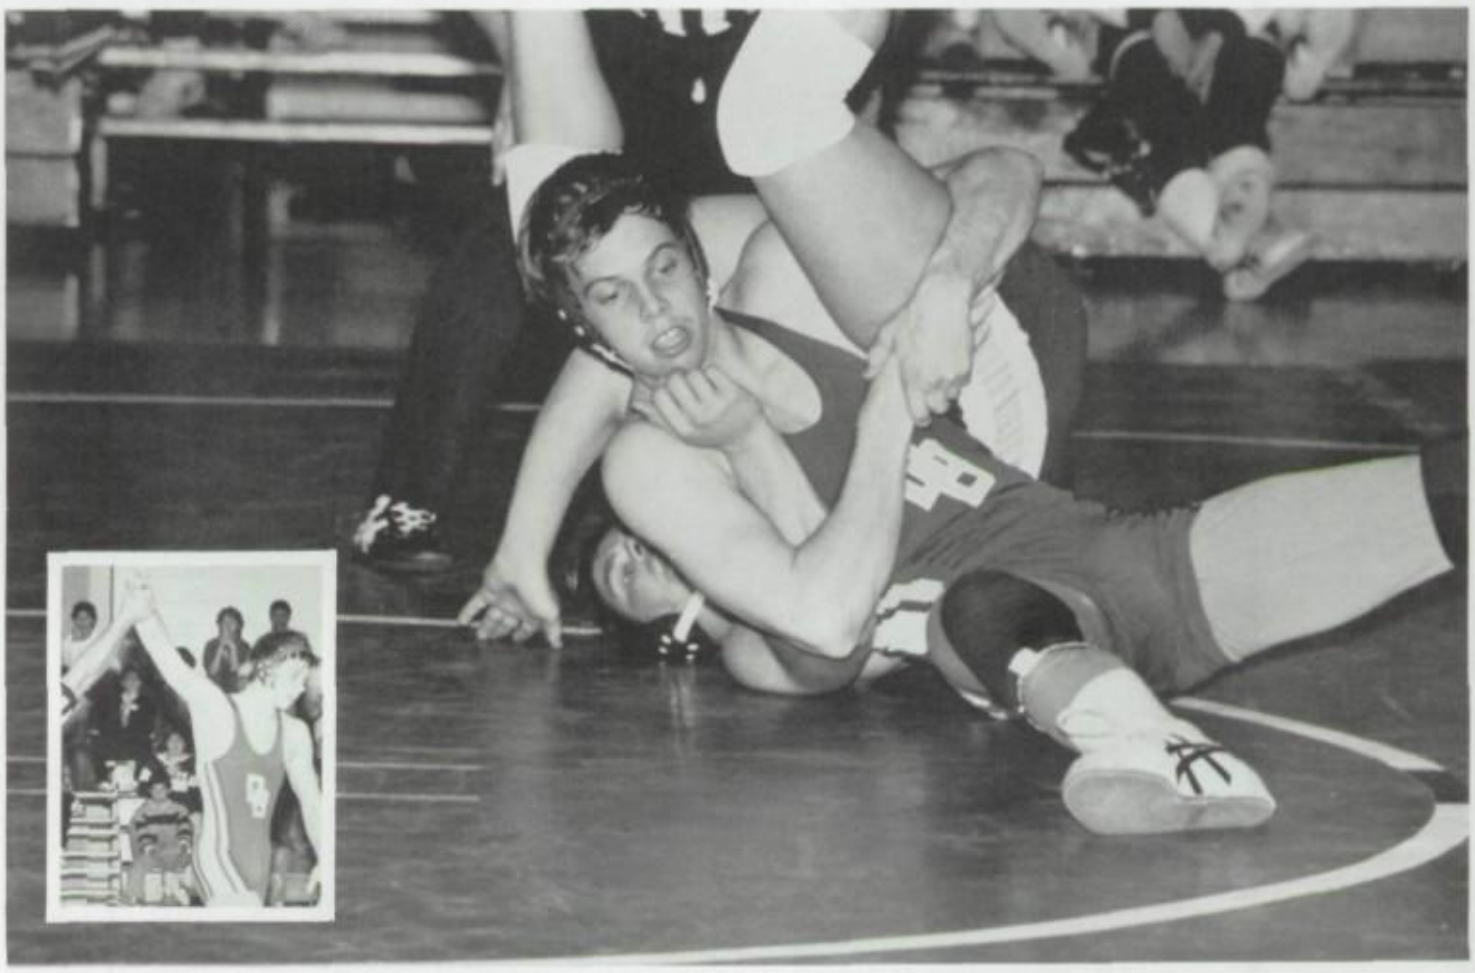
JV Grapplers Dazzle County Competitors

J.V. wrestlers await their obvious team victory.



Scott Rinker provokes a gut reaction.

Although impossible to tell when they will receive their next chance to wrestle, the jayvee grapplers never lost faith. Practicing long and hard with their varsity mates, they kept hoping that the next opponent would have a JV team. When the long awaited match finally arrived, each wrestler got to "show his stuff" in full force. This kind of spirit and patience combined to make them Section II champs!



Curtis' perfect form results in victory!

Swish It! . . . JV's Are On The Ball

Tshombe looks determined as he blocks his opponent.

Eric Sheerin takes it to the hoop.

Working hard under the coaching of Mr. Simmons, the Jayvee basketball team improved with each week. After a few disappointing losses at the beginning of the season, the Jayvees fought back and smashed the Raiders at home. Despite this tough season, the team worked hard until the end.

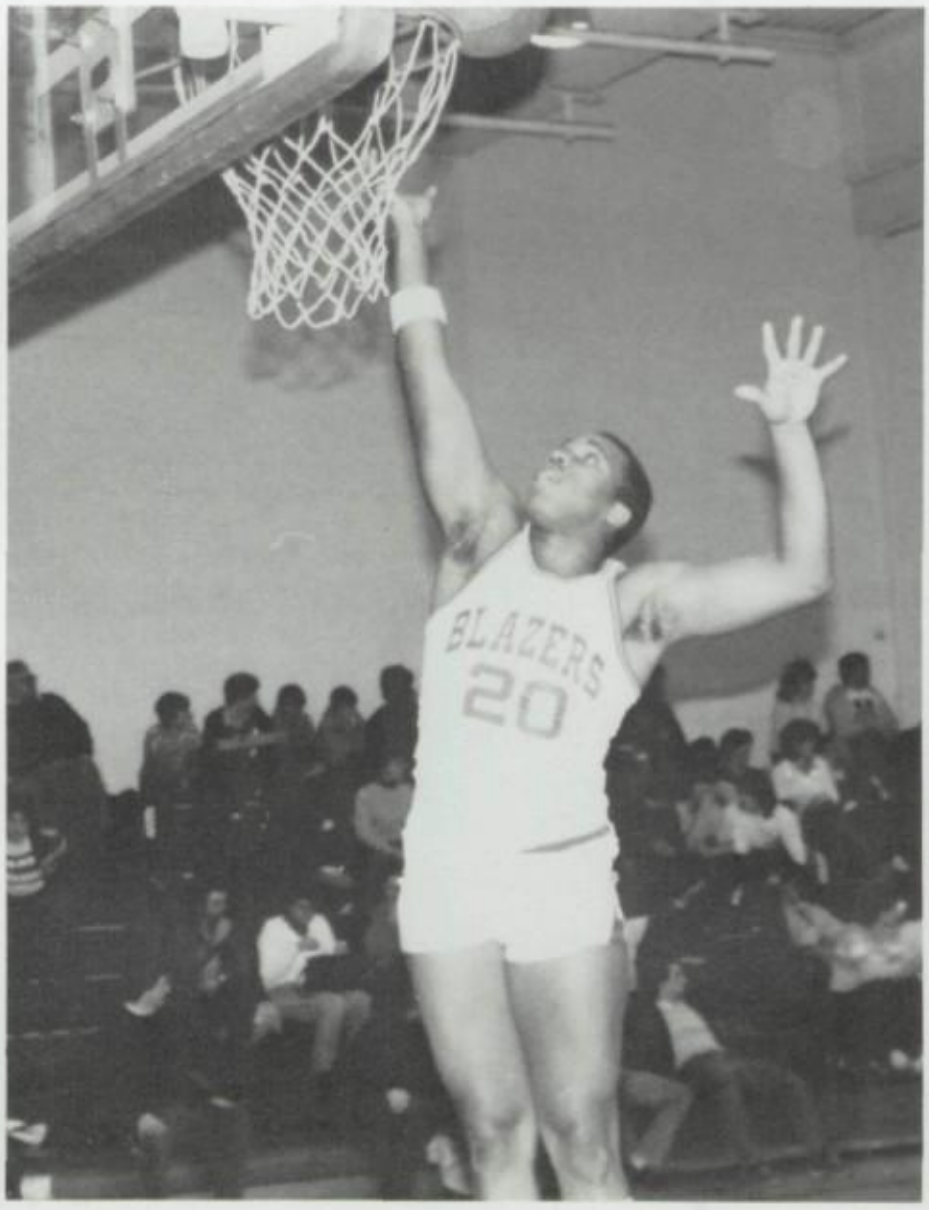
Blazers Shoot For Two!

The team rises and awaits the starting lineup.

A winded Ron Worrall receives final instructions.



Greg Beasley hits a breakaway layup.

All eyes are on the ball anticipating another field goal.

Laura Creswell and Michelle Weidner take the team stats.

Kermit Krick heads for the shower after a tough game.

With a swoosh of the ball and a cheer from the crowd, the Blazer Hoopmen experienced another productive year. The team sweated and worked hard to prepare for their games. Under Coach Lackwood's direction, these dedicated young men spent this year improving their basketball skills.

Greg Madrzykowski looks for the open man.

John Okuniewski bounce passes to Randy McEwen.

Spirited Cheerleaders Keep The Faith

Seniors Marie Fritz and Ann Taglieri enjoy their last game.

The cheerleaders never turned their backs on the Blazers.

Despite many ups and downs, the Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders pulled together and performed successfully. On the court and off, the girls provided support for the Varsity Basketball team. They decorated the halls, bought oranges, and threw a party on the bus at the end of the season. This spirited squad also cheered for the female hoopsters during a county play-off game.

The girls build spirit with a cheer and a smile.

"Swoop It In The Hoop"

JV Cheerleaders Shout With Pride!

The JV's spread their spirit.

There is no stopping us now!

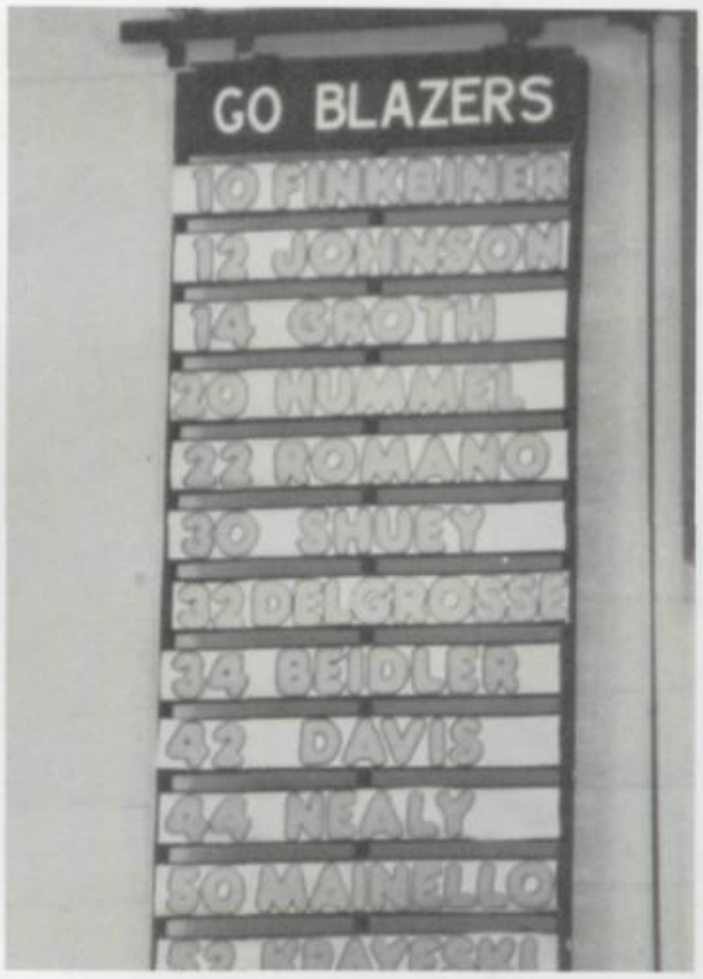
Standing (L-R): Karen Badinger, Laura Coffey, Desiree Mong, Donna Taglieri. Kneeling (L-R): Amy Huffman, Teri Heisey, Trena Anderson, Julie Mainello.

The JV Cheerleaders, showing true D.B. spirit, encouraged the basketball players throughout the season. Many long hours were put into their practices which profited into a wonderful performance. The girls were led by Captain Donna Taglieri and Co-Captain Laura Coffey whenever times got rough in team situations these girls always brought the crowd to their feet.

Laura and Teri balance for a perfect mount.

Pint-Sized Magicians Dazzle Division I

The 1985 Daniel Boone Girls' Basketball Team.



Wendy Davis jumps her highest and gains control of the ball.

Coaches Shuey and Lykens smile with pride.

The seniors smile after a successful season.

Susan Shuey expresses her frustration after a missed lay-up.

The 1984-85 Girls' Basketball Team achieved a goal reached by no other girls' team before them. Playing most of the season as the underdogs because of their lack of height, the Lady Blazers surprised everyone by capturing the Division I title. Coach Shuey stressed defense and it paid off as the Blazerettes received recognition as the best defensive team in the area. Leading scorer Wendy Davis tallied 38 pts. against Wyomissing to break the county freshman record for most points in a single game. She was also named Athlete of the Week by the Reading Eagle-/Times. The team will never forget their big win against Central Catholic and stopping at the Oley Dairy. Congratulations for a job well done!

Wendy Davis shoots a foul shot which puts Boone into the lead.

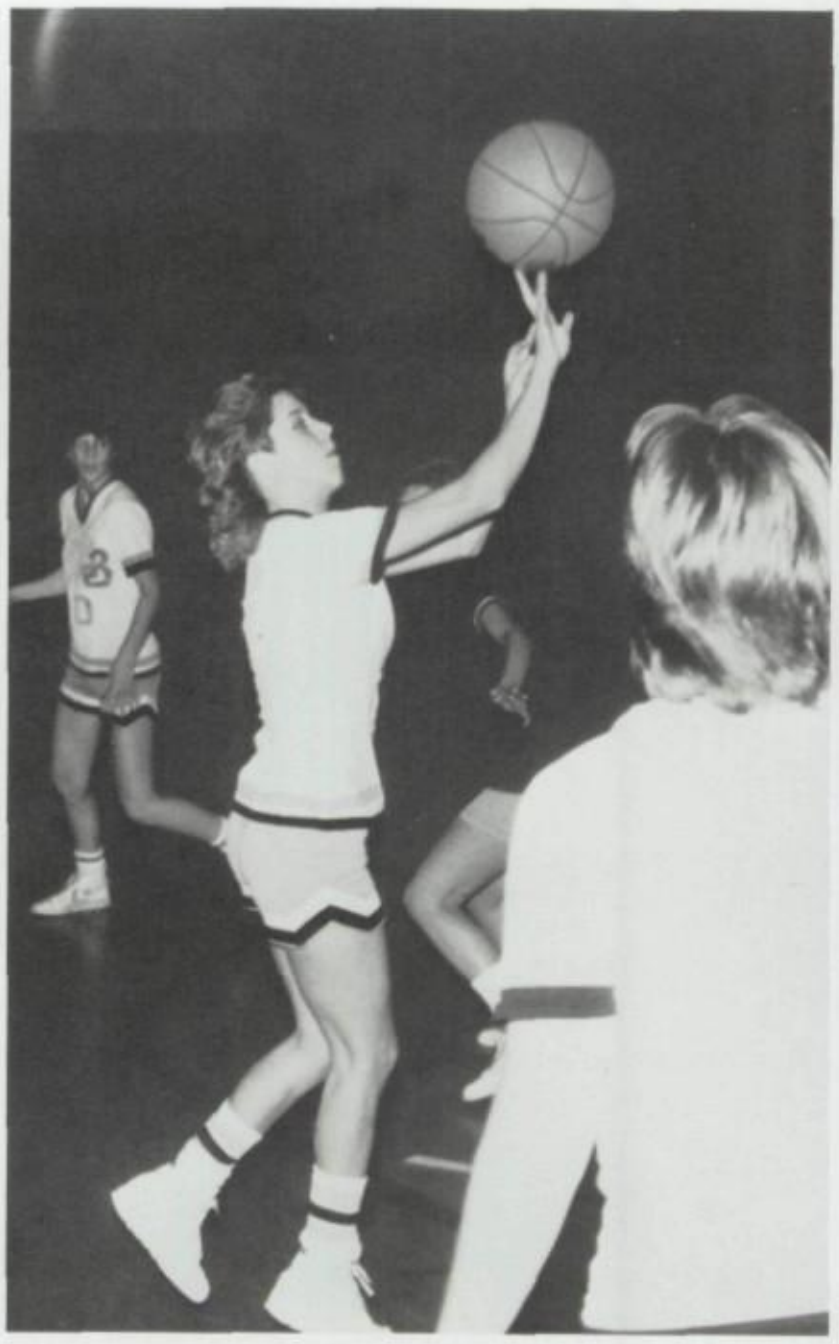
Leah Finkbiner hopes her defense will force a turnover for Holy Name.

Trisha Johnson scans the court to set up the next play.

The starting five stacked up many wins for the Blazers.

Hard Work Pays Off

A frustrated Judy Nealy loses her dribble.



Adding to her scoring average, Beth Hummel zings a jumper.

After many unsuccessful seasons, this year's Junior Varsity Girl's Basketball team showed promise. Under the leadership of captain and high scorer Amy Delgrosse, this team has proved victorious after many nerve wracking games. Following the successful 1984-85 season, Coach Lykens proudly proclaimed "I am very pleased with the efforts and accomplishments of the girls."

Amy Delgrosse looks on as teammate Lori Hoffman follows through with her shot.

Girls' Team Strikes Opponents

Andrea shows Patti how to roll the perfect strike.

Mrs. Kutz anxiously awaits the final tabulation.

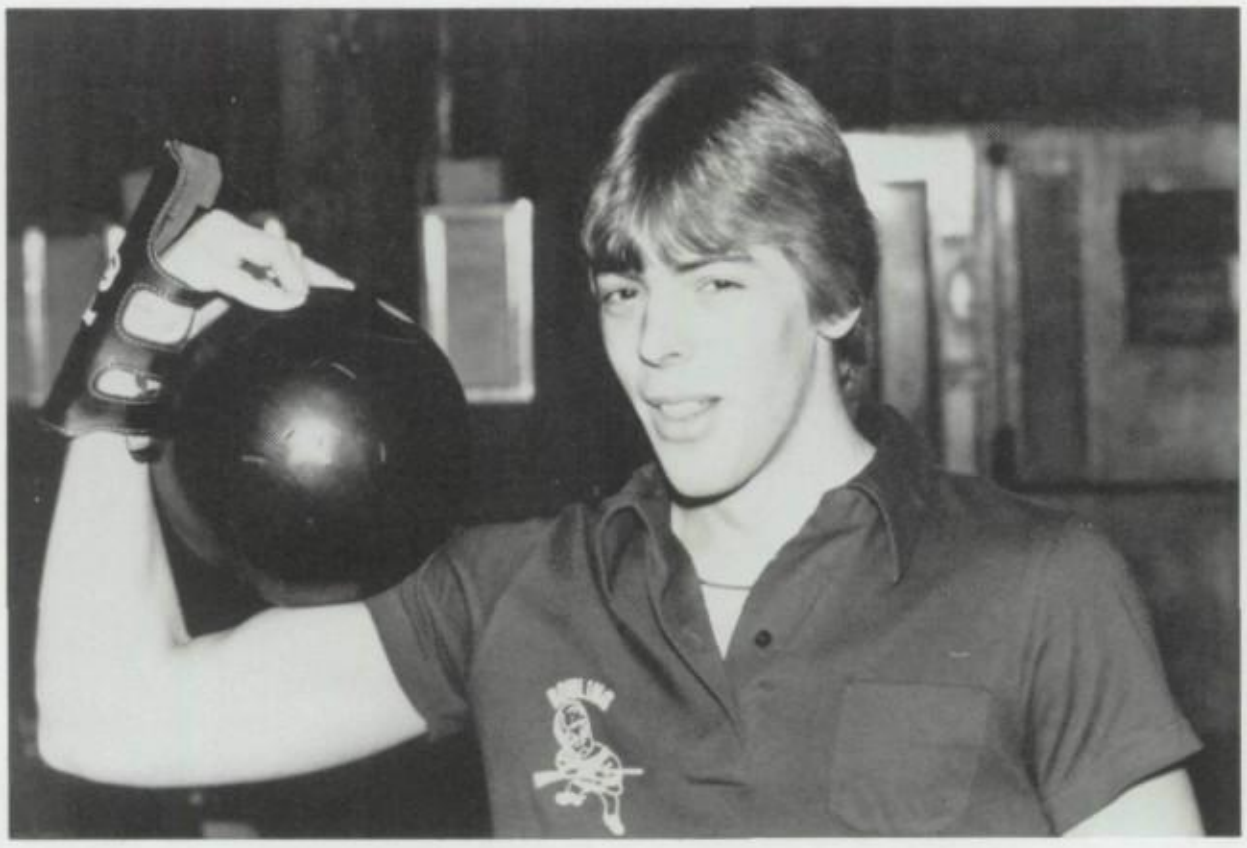
Shelly painfully looks away while the opponent throws another strike.

Ann steadies herself while approaching the foul line.

The girls' team, led by Senior Co-Captains, Ann Roggenbaum and Andrea Lichau, rolled against tough competition this year. Under their coach, Mrs. Kutz, the team finished in last place in Division 1 Play. Michelle Houston, Betty Najarian, and Patti Sanders completed this year's Blazer line-up.

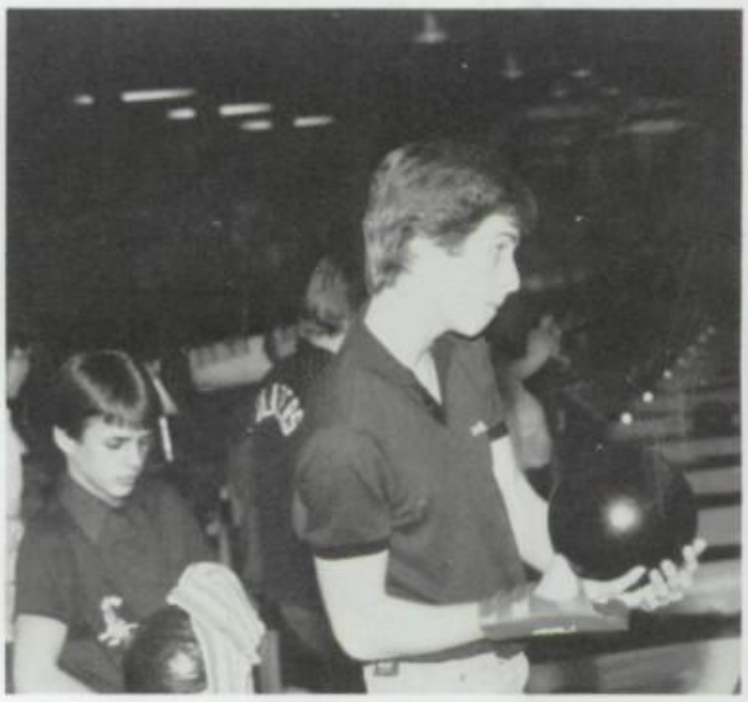
Boys' Team Rolls To Second Place



Rick shows the strength needed for a good roll.

Chuck expresses his readiness for the pro bowlers tour.

Kneeling: Dave Witmyer, Mike McCue, Joel Monburger, Scott Casner, Brent Nagle Standing: Joel Zeiber, Rich Monburger, Tim Bourland, Todd Endy, Charles Wagner, Rick Whitmoyer



Tim steps up and prepares for the perfect strike.

Under new coach, Mr. Joe Dantas, the boys' team finished in second place to division I winner, Exeter. During the season, the team suffered some close losses by ten pins or less to the better teams in Berks County. The team, which was led by senior Charles Wagner and freshman Joel Zeiber, hopes to improve on these losses and with experience do better next year.

Dave tries to sneak in some extra points for his team.

Mr. Dantas never knew coaching could be a dangerous job.

As the crack of the gun signaled the beginning of the 1985 track season, the Blazers raced off, keeping stride with their opponents to accomplish the goals they had set for themselves. Each dedicated member strived to improve himself despite the relaxed atmosphere of the team. Brett Cooper's comment, "How could I get a tan if I didn't go out for track?" reflected this mood.

Ed warms up before the race.

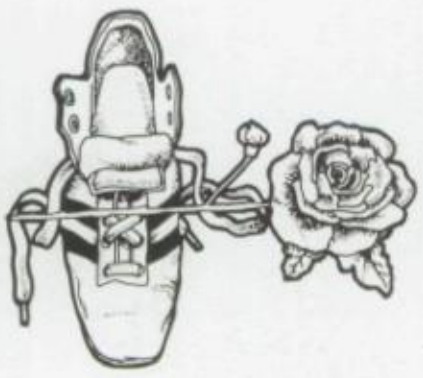
Lonny and Anthony battle it out for the first throw.

Greg Beasley shows off after a first place jump.

Lady Tracksters Surprise County

Lori Krall dashes ahead to another easy victory.

Blazerettes Gain Recognition With Wins



This season, the Girl's Track team had high expectations for a great season following last year's success. Many outstanding performances added to the 1984 season. The 1600 meter relay team placed 6th in District III; the first time a track team from D.B. placed in districts. Kim Rowe finished 3rd in the county for the 800 meter and Lori Krall 1st in the 200 meter and 3rd in the 100 meter. Julie Groth and Leah Finkbiner earned county honors in the top 10 for triple jumping and long jumping, respectively. The 1985 team hopes to do as well, if not better, this year. Although the team spent many grueling hours practicing, they weren't without fun times. No one could forget running away from practice, going to the IGA for food and practicing in the mud and rain! This combination of work and fun insured a successful and enjoyable season!

Quiet and closed-mouthed, Anne Mainello waits on deck.

This team can still smile after a wet and dreary track meet.

Softball: Determined, Year After Year

This year the determined Blazerettes improved their skills and abilities as they concentrated on a winning season. The appointment of Denise McCabe as head coach sparked a new determination and interest. Together the players channeled their energies towards establishing a reputation as a superior D.B. softball team.

Too many players can spoil the play.

D.B. Sluggers Score A Grand Slam Record

With the crack of a bat and the call of the ump, the '85 team did their best to "get the ball moving." The golden glove outfield easily caught long flies and the infield jumped on the short hits. DB pitchers deceived their opponents' eyes and the Blazer runners took advantage of slow pitchers by stealing bases. Dave Swavely shocked opponents with his superb fielding ability, and the spectators applauded Ron Leinbach's outstanding catches in the outfield. The supernormal line up of seniors helped guarantee a smashing season.

One, Two, Three Strikes You're Out . . .

At The Blazer Home Field

"Take me out to the ballgame, Take me out to the crowd . . . " Most Americans hear this song and visualize sunny afternoons, hot dogs, Coca-Cola, and fun times. The JV team, hoping to one day achieve Big League success, fondly remembers similar golden moments of their season. Led by pitcher Eric Mull and outfielder Jeff Clifford, the players spent many fun times under the warm sun.

PRIDE INSIDE

By capturing the division title, the Jr. High Wrestling team, led by coaches Mr. Weaver and Mr. Yeakel, once again upheld the fine wrestling tradition at Daniel Boone. Pin after pin the Blazers wracked up important victories. John Huffman and Keith Ketterer each earned 1st place medals at the county tourny. 2nd place winners included Mike O'Donnell and Dave Row.

Row 1: C. Czeiner, J. Pennypacker, B. Hahn, M. Huffman, S. VanAken, T. Richards, R. Westley. Row 2: C. Gardiner, T. Cooper, J. Mollecca, D. Winners, M. Kilareski, P. Bossler, J. The Jr. High Basketball team, led by coaches Mr. Werner and Mr. Civitarese, posted another successful season. With each game the team members gained more knowledge and confidence. The hoopsters worked to sharpen their dribbling skills and polish their shooting styles. With their newly acquired talents and knowledge of sportsmanship and leadership, this Blazer basketball team should make its mark in years to come.

The team leaves the field with a strong feeling of satisfaction.

Determined to make a name for themselves, the Jr. High Baseball Team got their first taste of real competition. This team worked hard throughout the season learning baseball basics and achieving recognition. Their dedication and desire will someday earn them a spot on the Senior High team.

Managers, Amy and Crystal, stand up for their team.

Outstanding Jr. High Athletes

"Dave Groth: Football"

"Lisa Rowe: Girls Track, Basketball, Hockey"

"Mike Focht: Boys Basketball"

"John Huffman: Wrestling"

"Chris Jacquis: Baseball"

"Mark Smale: Boys Track"

This year the yearbook staff chose to recognize special Jr. High Athletes. Selected by their coaches, these young people demonstrated not only exceptional ability but also support and dedication to their teammates. Best of luck for future successful years at Daniel Boone. Congratulations!!

An apple a day keeps the errors away.

Despite the weather, Teri and Michelle enjoy the ball game.

A flexible friend accompanies Mark Price through his day.

Junior girls start the day with friends and a smile.

Younger people with braces and glasses,
Always seen running to get to their classes.
The F-Section hallways they all cruise,
some pushing and shoving and getting all bruised.
The smaller ones pushed to the back of the line,
they wonder when their curfew will be later than nine.
Friends walking to the Gita is a popular thing,
As the girls grow older they care more about his class ring.
These are the future stars of Blazer teams,
Someday they'll push Blazer records to new extremes.
Popularity is a common aim,
Each one looks to school and friends for fame.
All hope to follow in the Seniors trail,
but they soon learn that Senior pride is not for sale.

S E N I O R S

Angelo displays the true meaning of Senior style.

Lisa smiles despite a grueling hockey practice.

Dreading their next class, Kolin and Cindy linger on the window sill.

These two snowbunnies escape the chilling winds of Sugarbush Mountain.

Mark and Dave analyze the nutritional value of their meal.

Senior cover girls begin their modeling careers in Michelle's living room.

Seniors, Seniors don't forget those times at DB High.
The hours of homework,
the radical lunches, and
Graduation to say good-bye.
Remember how we anticipated
the latest weekend news, pep rallies, band camp, and the Monday morning blues.
We wonder how we survived
many a troubled day,
perhaps with the hope that our dreams would carry us, "UP, UP, AND AWAY."

. . . trick or treating with Jerry W., Chris S., Andi G., and Tami S.

. . . Bobby in his quiet days.

. . . working together to win 1st place on Roosevelt Field Day.

Seniors Remember Special Moments When . . .

. . . Deanna and Troy sent each other a dozen red carnations.

. . . Joanie gave a Christmas carol concert at Jane's.

. . . Ann thought she was a news reporter in Texas Stadium.

. . . Dave and Roy got caught snitching soda.

. . . DJ's classic made it over the speed bumps.

. . . the yearbook staff presented their version of Ron Pearlstein.

. . . Greg fell victim to a typical lunch-time prank.

. . . Amy captured Ronny's heart.

. . . Bill's friends finally took revenge.

Friendship Lasts Forever

Lisa & Pat laugh at their clever escape from school.

Macho men battle for the Queen's trophy.

Greta laughs at being nominated "Typist of the Year."

Dawn and Janet demonstrate their flair for fashion.

Friend-
We've seen
so many problems together,
Times when we thought so much about giving up.
Friend-
We've seen
so many heartaches together,
Times when we thought everyone was out to use us.
Friend-
We've been
Through so much since we've met
And with each other, we have tried to conquer the world.
We've overcome our problems,
but only because we cared enough to help the other.
We've also gotten over the heartaches, although at first it was difficult-
We learned to forgive those who had hurt us.
Friend-
Through all we've been involved in we've always managed to come out okay.
You are the only one I can trust and I'll be forever grateful to you.
-Tami Snyder

Heather proves that dogs are really a girl's best friend.

Tim and his "little" friend plan their future together.

Marie, Shell, and Ann dream of the future.

Sharon, Beth, and Brenda try to dissuade Mrs. Lykens from having gym class.

John and Stacy wonder if they can pull this terrible twosome apart.

This german entourage hides the fact that they are really "just dumb American tourists."

Let The Good Times Roll

The "Caption News Team" enjoys some time off at a hectic yearbook meeting.

Jody and Steve smile as they inhale their third lunch.

Jan sets the rhythm and the beat.

Seniors relive their childhood.

Carole threatens us with a hotdog.

Baccalaureate ushers wish they were marching to Pomp and Circumstance.

Seniors enjoy impressions of their favorite teachers.

The gang crashes after a long flight in from Hawaii.

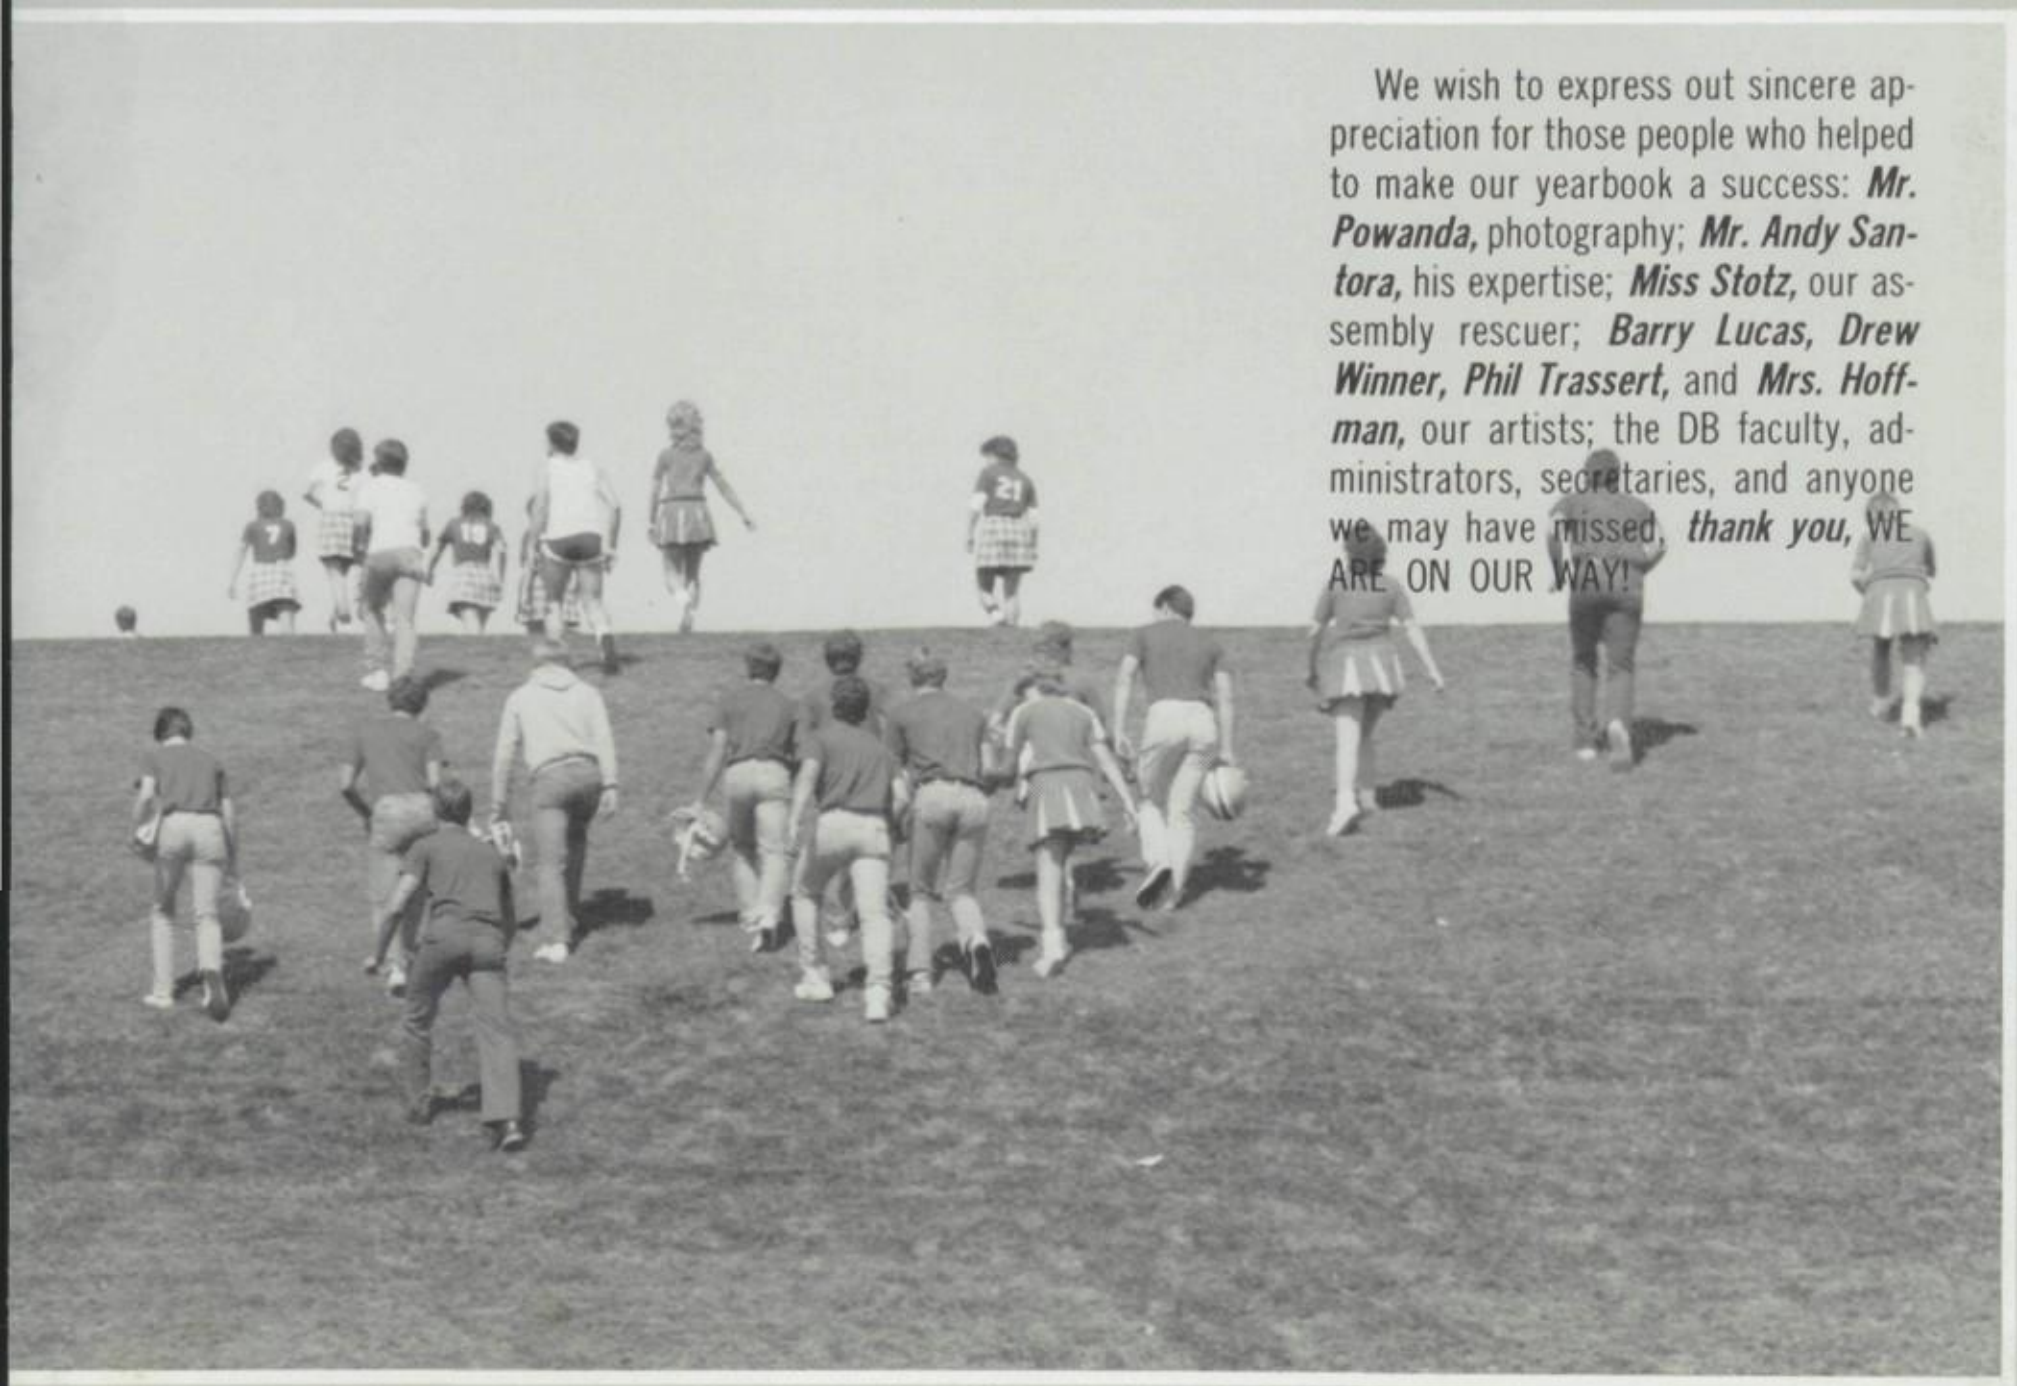
ADVISOR
Mrs. Cathy Buch



We wish to express out sincere appreciation for those people who helped to make our yearbook a success: Mr. Powanda, photography; Mr. Andy Santora, his expertise; Miss Stotz, our assembly rescuer; Barry Lucas, Drew Winner, Phil Trassert, and Mrs. Hoffman, our artists; the DB faculty, administrators, secretaries, and anyone we may have missed, thank you, WE ARE ON OUR WAY!

Over these special years,
We shared our smiles
We shared our tears,
We shared our secrets.
And all our fears.
But as we go Up, Up, & Away,
So many things we wish to say.
Few words can express the way we feel,
We know this feeling is somehow real.
We float into the wide blue sky,
Hoping our dreams will never die.
